GLENDALE 'THE CITY OF GIFTED WOMEN'

Industrial Plants Considered By Chamber of Commerce

DIRECTORATE RECEIVE MANY COMMUNICATIONS RELATIVE TO THE PROPOSITIONS SEEKING ENCOURAGEMENT AND INDORSEMENT

The adjourned meeting of the directorate of the chamber of commerce and industrial committee was held last night at the chamber of commerce headquarters on West Broadway, with C. C. Cooper presiding and Secretary Rhoades recording the minutes.

A number of communications to the chamber were read by the secretary. One was from the recently reorganized Tropico Potteries, outlining proposed development of the corporation and its products.

A communication from the Bedell Company of Los Angeles was read, containing a proposition to put up a modern ice plant in this city. This was referred to the industrial committee of which W. E. Hewitt is chairman.

A letter containing a resolution of indorsement adopted by the chambers of commerce at Alhambra, Pasadena, Long Beach and other southern cities of the proposed Junior College of Agriculture for the San Fernando valley was indorsed by the directorate and the secretary was instructed to communicate with Assemblyman John Robert White of this city who introduced the bill (No. 30), advising him of the chamber's action.

The announcement of a change of the date from March 24 to April 14 of the hearing before the railroad commission of the Original Stage Company's application for permit to increase rates, was read by the secretary.

A bill for rent of the chamber headquarters was referred to the auditing committee with instructions to see that same is paid. J. G. Huntley reported that one of the new stores on Broadway adjoining the alley could be obtained through Mr. Cole for $75 a month against the $90 a month demanded where the chamber now is. The committee on location was instructed to confer with Mr. Cole to see if a lease could be secured from him for a year or more at $75 a month, the room being of the same width as present quarters and about 20 feet longer.

No action was taken relative to a verbal request presented through the secretary for indorsement of a proposition to prospect for oil on about 400 acres north of Glendale which has been leased by a group of local men including C. H. Henry, Peter Ferry, W. J. Bowman, and others.

The proposition of Mr. Bruess to establish a tire and other factories on a tract just outside Glendale in Los Angeles on 66 acres of land between Riverdale and Broadway, was again discussed. Secretary Rhoades stated that Mr. Bruess had been indorsed by Dave Hamburger and Harry Chandler of Los Angeles and urged the directorate to take such action as a body or as individual members as would assure Mr. Bruess of the approval and cooperation of Glendale in his projects. The advantages that might accrue to Glendale even though located outside its corporate limits were discussed and the industrial committee was instructed to confer further with Mr Bruess and report to the chamber at the earliest possible moment.

Present and participating in the meeting were: Messrs. Cooper, Packer, Smith, Hewitt, Emery, Lusby, Huntley, Bentley, Gregg, Hollister, Campbell, Rowley, Kent, Butts, Eastman and Secretary Rhoades.

MANY NEW HOMES CONTEMPLATED

Several new residences are projected by Glendale citizens, for which permits will soon be taken out. J. Clarence Klamm, the well-known jeweler and optician, will build a 4-room house at 905 East Colorado. O. V. Brochmann, who bought the Broadway Bakery last November and is conducting it so successfully, will erect a 6-room, plastered house at 365 Myrtle. Mr. Brochmann, wife and little daughter are well pleased with Glendale and will be glad to settle down in their own beautiful new home as soon as it is completed. Hugh Showalter will build at 636 Orange Grove, J. H. Phillips at 610 West California, W. C. Seal at 1264 Walnut, J. F. Bridges at 1256 Walnut, Stanley Nelson at 1211 East Stanley.

BUSINESS GOOD SAYS RELIABLE PAINT HOUSE

There is no better index to the rapid growth of building operations in Glendale than is furnished by the big business being done by the Glendale Paint and Paper Company, 119 South Brand boulevard. This reliable paint and paper house has been doing a big business lately.

They carry one of the largest stocks of paints, oils, varnishes, wall paper, etc., in Southern California, and their prices are much lower than many of the biggest concerns, who claim to sell at rock bottom prices. It pays to deal with an old reliable firm, who always make good if anything goes wrong.

Don't fail to see the Glendale Paint and Paper Company before placing your order. They will treat you right.

ALARM IS FELT FOR CARDINAL GIBBONS

(By International News Service)

BALTIMORE, Md., March 23.—Alarm was again felt early today over the condition of Cardinal Gibbons, which is reported to have taken a decided turn for the worse.

GLENDALE MAN IN AUTO SMASHUP

Ernest Thurston of 428 North Jackson, was returning from San Pedro last night and at about midnight as he was nearing the Glendale city limits on the San Fernando road, he endeavored to pass another car, driven by Samuel Schwartz, 618 South Spring, but the driver failed to heed the warning signal to make room and the cars came together with a crash. Schwartz's car was damaged in the rear and left side and Thurston's Ford was a wreck. The front axle was bent and twisted so that both wheels are at a decided angle, the wind shield was smashed to bits, and the frame almost demolished. The radiator was damaged also. Fortunately only one person, a boy, was injured, and he not seriously. The wrecked Ford is at the Club Garage.

MISS CHAMPLAIN IS ARTISTIC PERFORMER

To the uninitiated, it may seem that the accompanist at a musical performance is not an important factor. This judgment springs, perhaps, from the modest way in which the true musician effaces himself and subordinates and coordinates his work to that of the singers whom he accompanies and sustains with his instrument.

But every singer knows that the accompanist is an important part of a creditable, satisfying musical performance; that a good accompanist is rare; in fact ,that the art of artistic, sympathetic accompaniment is a special musical gift.

Miss Gertrude Champlain, accompanist of musical programs of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, demonstrated anew at the Reciprocity Day celebration of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, that she has this rare gife. Her accompaniments for the numbers of the California Girls' quartet and the Madrigal quartet added greatly to the perfection of these features. The Tuesday Afternoon Club is indeed fortunate to have among its members so accomplished an accompanist.

WEST GLENDALE PROGRESSIVE LEAGUE MEETS

Mayor Stephenson, City Manager Watson and Dr. Carl Wilson Give Talks

The meeting of the West Glendale Progressive League held in the high school auditorium was attended by a large audience, all interested keenly in the subjects of debate.

T. W. Watson, city manager, explained the sources and development of Glendale's water supply, and the two policies to be voted upon March 29 for financing the water development project. He demonstrated that Greater Glendale can be no larger than its water department is permitted to grow; he showed that nature had abundantly supplied us with water and that all we had to do was to develop it.

In the discussion that followed Mr. Clark brought out the fact that the water bonds mean much to Glendale; in his opinion they are the most important issue before the people at this time. Replying to a question, Mr. Watson said he favored plan known as No. 2.

Dr. Carl Wilson, laboratory director of the water department of the city of Los Angeles, who has charge also, of the laboratory work of Glendale's water department, spoke on the quality of Glendale's water supply. There are two sources of supply, the Verdugo canyon and the wells on San Fernando road. The water from the latter source Dr. Wilson declared to be exceptionally good, almost sterile. The canyon water, he said, might be contaminated at times, hence Glendale maintains a most modern sterilizing machine. Liquid chlorine is used to free the water from colon bacilli.

Glendale is far ahead of many other communities in the matter of pure water, said Dr. Wilson. The iron and manganese in our water promote the growth of organisms not desirable, but not particularly injurious, according to Dr. Wilson.

Dwight Stephenson's subject was the city charter. He touched upon what he considered the high lights of the charter; among others, the division of article ii, section 2, which gives us power of municipal ownership; the division in the same article which gives the city the right to define and abate a nuisance; a zoning ordinance; section 10 of article vi., whereby the city may bid on all public work done under the provisions of any local improvement ordinance or resolutio; the section providing a limit for bonded indebtedness; article xviii., the initiative referendum and recall; the sections providing that city officers be excluded from direct or indirect interest in any contract work or business payable from the city treasury, prohibit city officials from part of their salary as compensation for being elected to office, favoring home merchants in purchase of city supplies and restraining city employes from taking active part in or contributing money toward the election of any candidate.

Mr. Stephenson argued, during the discussion that followed, that one should not vote against the charter because one found one or two points in it with which one did not agree, the charter may be amended every two years. We want "home rule," he said, and the charter gives it to us, even though it may not suit the views of all of us in every particular.

PLAN FOR GALA TIME ON FRIDAY, APRIL 1

Pythian Sisters of La Halla Temple, No. 122, are planning for a gala time on the evening of Friday, April 1, when Van Nuys Temple will entertain at the K. P. hall, Park avenue and Brand boulevard, with an Irish minstrel show.

This is an open meeting to which the public is cordially invited. Ladies are asked to bring a lunch for two. These boxes will be sold for the good of the order. Good music will be furnished for dancing, which will be the entertainment feature after the lunch.

EAGLE SCOUTS RETURN FROM A MOUNTAIN HIKE

While at Camp Baldy They Organize the First Eagle Club in the West

Eagle Scouts of Troop No. 2 have returned from their hike and sojourn at Camp Baldy and are giving enthusiastic accounts of the pleasures of the outing which was enjoyed by the full corps of Eagles, except Stillman Chase who was kept at home by illness.

They left here Saturday morning and reached Camp Baldy at 1 p.m. After taking possession of the fine big stone cabin placed at their disposal by the hotel management, they took a short hike to a former camp site and on their return spent a jolly evening around the fireplace in their own cabin, except that a few of their number took in the dance at the hotel.

Sunday morning early they left for the upper San Antonio canyon and the Great Divide. Their party was one of the few that had been able to reach the Great Divide this year because of the difficulties of the trip. Their hike took them through four miles of snow and ice, but they felt wonderfully compensated as the wide view of snow-capped mountains was wonderful. The top is a big flat where the boys entertained themselves with a snow fight and sledding

After spending part of Sunday evening in the hotel lobby, telling stories, the boys repaired to their own cabin where they roasted apples and marshmallows and resumed their stories and songs.

Monday morning's program included a game of baseball and at noon they started for Cucamonga Divide by way of Ice House canyon. The gorge lived up to its name all right and it was desperately cold, but they had a wonderful hike nevertheless. The supper which they had taken with them was cooked in the snow near the top. At the summit the wind blew a gale which made footing insecure.

The return trip was made by moonlight, the boys reaching camp about 9 p.m. Assistant Principal Ferguson and his wife, Coach Hayhurst and wife, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Webb, who are spending the Easter vacation at Camp Baldy, were discovered to be still awake, so the boys serenaded them. Though greatly surprised, their hosts invited them in and made them very welcome.

The same night the boys organized the Eagle Scout Club, the first organization of its kind in the west. In seeking names for their officers they resorted to the Indian tribal government, and their election resulted as follows: Chief Eagle, H. Benjamin Robison; Little Chief, Willard Roberts; Medicine Man, Terrell Morse.

At the next meeting plans of work and play will be made and a constitution and by-laws adopted.

Tuesday morning the boys made several short hikes before packing their kits for the return to Glendale Tuesday afternoon. The Eagles in the party were: C. G. Farrell, Thomas Wood, Arthur Wetton, Willard Roberts, David Roberts, Terrell Morse, Burton Kuntzner, Dalals Kalbaugh, Kenneth Miles, Clifford Wolcott, H. Benjamin Robison.

ALL-COMEDY SHOW AT PALACE GRAND

Another of the all-comedy shows for which the Palace Grand is noted will be seen there today.

It is "Oficer 666," the funniest "cop" story ever screened, says the management of the theater. It's a farce-comedy in which "cops," millions of 'em, try to pinch Tom Moore.

"High and Dry," a two-part comedy circus, cartoons and other features, and a fine orchestra program under the direction of Nils Gilliam, make up a program that's a sure cure for "the blues."

And it's for today only. Tomorrow's program features a great story of adventure in the Georgian snow forests —the haunts of the Canadian mounted police. James Oliver Curwood's latest tale of the north, "Isobel, or The Trail's End."

"THE HOPEDALE BOARD," BY MISS EVA DANIELS, SCORES HIT—ABOUNDS IN WITTY LINES—LOIS NAUDAIN TO BE ALLOWED TO PERFORM RUSSIAN DANCE WITHOUT PETITION

Glendale is called "the city of homes"—it might also be called "the city of gifted women." In Glendale's bright galaxy the stars of the parliamentary law section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club shone resplendent at the Reciprocity Day celebration, yesterday afternoon, in "The Meeting of the Hopedale Board," written by one of their own number, Miss Eva Daniels.

Miss Daniels' clever little skit abounded in witty lines. It was remarkable (and also very characteristic of its kindly, lovable author), that its humor was without a sting, which is not always the case in a sketch containing "local hits." The little play gave excellent opportunity for parliamentary drill, not in a dry, routine way, but by means of a laughable set of resolutions offered by Trustee Berdie Lovelight (Mrs. Homer Lockwood), discussed by Trustee Grafter (Mrs. Benjamin Holbrook), opposed by Trustee Pep (Mrs. C. A. Brandstater), amended by Trustee Jazz (Mrs. R. Angelica) with various motions anent the resolution by Trustee Smart (Mrs. J. F. Crampton) and Trustee Pickell (Mrs. W. H. Verity).

Mayor Wise (Mrs. Harry Greenwalt), insisted on each speaker addressing the chair in proper parliamentary manner, and allowed the introduction of no matter that was not relevant to the subject under discussion. Clerk Scribble (Mrs. W. L. Andrews), distinguished herself by being tardy at the meeting, but redeemed herself subsequently by her faithful attention to duty. Shader Pastel (Mrs. A. H. Montgomery), was inimitably funny—a lady of color who appeared before the board and complained of the "erysipelas" trees (eucalyptus).

Miss Eva Daniels took the part of City Attorney Knowall with dignity and aplomb. On the presentation of petitions by various trustees that the Salvation Army be allowed to sing on the streets of Hopeville, that a little Belgian child be allowed to dance, that a 15-year-old girl be allowed to play the piano at night and that Lois Naudain be allowed to dance a Russian dance, City Attorney Knowall ruled that these petitions and all such petitions henceforth, must give a demonstration of their performance before the board before a permit be given.

In accordance with this ruling, four winsome Salvation Army lassies—known in private life as Helen B. Esterly, Vivian Clark, Vera Crawford and Ethel Gerber, members of the

NEW RESIDENTS; NEW INDUSTRY

Former Nebraskans to Engage in the Raising of Guinea Pigs in Glendale

A. W. Glade and wife who recently bought C. P. Clark's residence at 219 West Lomita, are rejoicing over the arrival of their furniture yesterday, so that they can now get to housekeeping. They have one child, Annie, and a cousin, L. E. Etting, makes his home with them. They came here from Grand Island, Nebraska, where the men were engaged extensively in the milling business. They still retain there intersets there, but will engage in a novel enterprise here, which promises wonderful results, not only financially but in the way of benefiting suffering mankind. They will raise guinea pigs for a large laboratory in Hollywood, and they already have the first unit of their plant built, a large shed, on the rear of the lot. This will accommodate 500 of the little creatures and other sheds will be built as the business enlarges. It is a clean, quiet industry that will disturb no one, as guinea pigs neither crow nor cackle, grunt nor squeal. The little animals are used for experimentation to determine the effects of certain maladies and decide as to the proper diet and treatment to counteract the diseases.

Mrs. Glade is an up-to-date newspaper woman, having been city editor of a daily paper in Grand Island. She has already ordered the Glendale Daily Press delivered at her home.

LOCAL MAN'S STORY AT GLENDALE THEATER

Pauline Frederick, America's foremost emotional actress, is the star in today's head-liner at the Glendale Theater.

"A Slave of Vanity," the super-special production introducing her for the first time as a Robertson-Cole star, was received with acclaim last night at the Glendale where it was shown for the first time. The picture is very well balanced and has numberless settings of great splendor and diversity. The story is a screen adaptation of the famous drama "Iris," written by Sir Arthur Wing Pinero, which achieved success on the stage in both America and England.

Tomorrow's program features Eugene O'Brien in "The Wonderful Chance." The author, H. H. Van Loon, is a resident of Glendale. He is one of the foremost screen writers of the day, as well as the author of many Saturday Evening Post feature stories.

Mr. Van Loan will appear in person at the Glendale on Thursday evening.

L. A. TRUST AND SAVINGS BANK

In Handsome New Quarters, Which Will Be Enlarged in a Short Time

The Boulevard Branch of the Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank is now in its fine new quarters, 106 and 108 North Brand, while the room formerly occupied, 104, is undergoing a complete transformation also. When the work on this is completed the three rooms will be in one and the old quarters will be devoted to the officers' desks, note and collection department and escrow department. The old vault will be fitted with safety deposit boxes. The center of the big room, back a little more than half way, will be one large commodious lobby with all the various departments facing it.

The upper part of the building will be made into business offices and suites.

PROFESSOR WHITE WILL MAKE ADDRESS

A mass meeting will be held on Saturday evening at 7:30, in the hall over the branch library at Brand boulevard and Los Feliz road, under the auspices of the chamber of commerce and the city government, to discuss the bond issues.

Professor Richardson D. White will speak on the recreational center; T. W. Watson, city manager, on the water bonds, illustrating his talk with lantern slides. Dwight Stephenson will talk on the charter; there will be other speakers, also.

REGULAR MEETING OF CHAMBER FORUM

The first regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce forum is to be held Thursday night, March 24, in the cafeteria of the high school. A special speaker has been engaged and many matters of general interest will be considered. It is intended to be a general community gathering, open to members, to the wives of members, or friends whom they choose to invite. Reservations for the dinner which will be $1 a plate, should be made at once.

N. & M. GROCERY SELLING AT COST

A. W. Nelson and J. S. Majors, proprietors of the N. and M. grocery at 140 North Brand boulevard, have sold their lease and fixtures to Adolph Zeitlin.

The firm is selling out their stock at cost, and a good opportunity is thereby afforded for housewives to stock up their shelves with standard staple groceries.

SAFEGUARD PUBLIC AGAINST IMPOSTERS

Secretary Rhoades of the Chamber of Commerce and members of the directorate are anxious that the public should know and understand that the chamber has appointed a secret committee to whose members will be reported all matters presented to the chamber for indorsement. This is for the protection of the public which will be asked not to subscribe through persons unknown to them for stock or for causes which have not been investigated by the chamber, or to give subscriptions or advertisements to foreign publications outside of Glendale which they know nothing about. So many unscrupulous persons are trading on the sympathies of men and women and pretending to be the representatives of worthy causes, that the chamber feels it owes a duty to the public and to the honest solicitors in thus investigating and giving its formal printed indorsement to worthy matters.

HAPPY REUNION OF OLD FRIENDS

Mrs. Vernon Putnam of 208 West Elk street entertained Tuesday, in honor of her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Walton of Lancaster, Mo., who are her house guests. The ladies entertained were old friends of Mrs. Walton and Mrs. Putnam who formerly resided in Bloomfield Iowa, some of whom were schoolmates who had not met Mrs. Walton in 50 years. As may be imagined it was a happy reunion with many things concerning old times to be talked about. The guest list included: Mrs. Stark of Los Angeles, Mrs. John Duffield of Bloomfield, Mrs. Julia Saunders and daughter, Mrs. Prince of Hollywood, Mrs. Perdue of Pasadena, and Mrs. Godding of Los Angeles. The Waltons expect to go home in April.

DR. KAEMMERLING'S GOAT PSYCHOLOGY

Dr. Kaemmerling is credited with a profound knowledge of psychology as applied to the mental processes of goats. He recently acquired by natural processes three baby goats, commonly called kids. As he wished them to be fed artificially he gave them their first feeding through a nipple placed in a cup. The idea of food thus became associated in their infant minds with the cup, and the next day he was able to persuade them to drink direct from the cup.

ACTIVITIES OF THE KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS

At the regular meeting of the Glendale Lodge 331, Knights of Pythias, the rank of Page was conferred in the presence of members and visitors. The new degree team was up to the minute in efficiency. The usual number of visitors was present. Next week the Esquire rank will be exemplified.

BARE OR HIGH BACKS ARE VERY PUZZLING

(By International News Service)

LONDON, March 23. — London's fashion world is in a quandary:

Paris, which acts as the usual guide to the average fashionable Englishwoman as to what will be the fashionable dresses for the spring, is one day decreeing that bare backs must go, and that the high-necked and long-sleeved gowns are now the fashion. The London woman jumps straight to her dressmaker and gets measured for the "new fashion."

Back comes Paris with the report that at the latest fashion parade at Madame So and So's the new dresses were bare-backed, low-necked and sort-skirted.

And so Dame Fashion's adherents in London are now wondering what they will do, order their new spring dresses now or wait and see.

MY THOUGHTS ON PICKET

(Or the Picket Guard's Meditations)

The fire grows dim, my comrades sleep,
The night is calm and still,
And naught is heard save owlets call
Or cry of whippoorwill.

I'm standing here with trusty gun,
Beneath an aged tree,
Alone with nature and her God,
My only company.

What better time for thoughts of home
And all we hold most dear,
Than when all nature seeks repose,
And naught but God is near.

I cast my eyes to starry hosts,
That gem the world above,
And think of wife and children dear,
Whom I so fondly love.

I cast my eyes to one bright star,
Hesperides its name,
And wonder if this moment, Kate,
You're gazing at the same.

And then a silent prayer I breathe,
That I may ever prove
As constant as that sleepless star,
To those who claim my love.

And still my orisons arise,
For strength to face the fight,
To battle manfully our foes,
For liberty and right.

Oh, God! save liberty the boon,
For which our fathers bled,
From foe in front and foe in rear,
From rebel copperhead.

God save my native fatherland,
Or take me home to thee,
The downfall of my country's fame,
I would not live to see.

May peace with mild and gentle sway,
Dispel our gloomy night,
But not the peace which cowards buy,
By yielding up the right.

Such are the thoughts which fill my mind,
But I must now be brief,
'Tis one o'clock and I must call,
The sleeping third relief.

So fare you well my darling wife,
And infant girl and boy,
When rebels fly and peace returns,
Oh, then we'll meet with joy.

CHARLES DIBBLE,
Veteran of the civil war.

"ALPHA OMEGA" CLASS ORGANIZES

The Young Ladies' class of the Central Christian Bible school, of which Mrs. M. G. Musser is the teacher, met last evening at the home of Evangeline Quackenbush, at 1119 East Colorado boulevard for organization. They selected the name "Alpha Omega" and for a motto "Plus Ultra." The following officers were elected: Evangeline Quackenbush, president; Louise Hester, vice president; Mabel Overton, secretary; Lois Mock, treasurer. Membership, social, press and flower committees were appointed. A social hour followed the business session and a violin solo by Miss Quackenbush was one of the treats of the evening. Dainty refreshments were served.

J. W. PEARSON'S NEW HOME

J. W. Pearson, the realty operator, is busier than a cranberry merchant. He is building a thoroughly modern five-room bungalow on a lot he owns at 700 North Louise street at the corner of Doran. W. S. Caldwell is the builder and everything up to date in construction is going into it. The floors are of hardwood throughout.

Mr. and Mrs. Pearson have been living in an apartment on West Broadway for the past eight years and are making the change because Mrs. Pearson says she wants a real home with room for a garden and chickens.

Rev. Cookman has purchased a lot of the Pearsons, which he intends to improve with a bungalow to be occupied by him as a home, in the near future.

PLANES USE THAMES AS A LANDING FIELD

(By International News Service)

LONDON, March 23.—The first of a series of tests was made when the Vickers-Vimy machine that won the air ministry's prize for amphibians, alighted successfully on the Thames near the houses of parliament.

The attempt was made to test the possibility of using the Thames as a central London landing place for air passengers and mail.

GLENDALE, "THE CITY OF GIFTED WOMEN"

California Girls' Quartet — were ushered in by the page (Mrs. Walter Jones), and sung so delightfully that the trustees decided they must hear them in another selection. Doffing their Salvation Army capes and bonnets, the young ladies appeared in pretty afternoon frocks and sang several other selections, in compliance with the insistent demands of the audience.

Little four-year-old Mary Alice Barton, in quaint Belgian costume, was delightful in her Belgian dance. She is a child of exceptional talent and her recitations were equally well received.

Miss Reba Phillips, in her rendition of Rachmaninoff's Prelude, displayed a perfection of technique, a musical intelligence and a modest ease of manner notable in a girl of 15. She graciously responded to an encore.

Lois Naudain, in very becoming Russian costume, contributed to the program a Russian dance, which she executed with grace, verve and precision. Both she and little Miss Barton reflect credit on their teacher, Pearl Keller.

A telegram was read by Trustee Pep from Mr. Behymer, requesting permission to present a quartet of artists, and, of course, the Madrigal quartet —Mmes. C. A. Parker, Frank Arnold, A. M. Draper and Helen Graham Cole —did themselves proud, as usual, with a quartet arrangement of "The Rosary." They responded to two encores.

Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson and members of the board received the guests. The president called the meeting to order and welcomed the guests.

Mr. C. D. Lusby gave a five-minute address on the civic center bonds soon to be voted on.

Mrs. Exley, district president, and Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, vice president of the National Federation of Music Clubs, were introduced. Representatives of various clubs, among ladies from El Monte, Covina, Compton, Van Nuys, Los Angeles, Alhambra, told how they had raised money to finance the building of their club homes, and brought words of encouragement to the Tuesday Afternoon Club in their proposed undertaking, to build a club house.

The club room was beautifully decorated in spring blossoms by the decoration committee, and refreshments were served after the play by the hospitality committee.

"STAR" BOARDER UNDER ARREST

(By International News Service)

ARDMORE, Okla., March 23.—The "eternal triangle" came back to Ardmore today This time it involved a railroad brakeman, who paid with his life, a "star boarder" and the brakeman's wife.

Newton Ashcraft, the "star boarder" is under arrest charged with the murder of Charles Dixon, a railroader.

Mrs. Dixon is also under arrest charged with complicity in the crime.

Ghosts of the Clara Smith Hamon trial were rattled when H. H. Brown, late of the Hamon prosecution and Russell B. Brown, former prosecuting attorney, were retained as special prosecuting counsel by Dixon's fellow workmen.

Ashcraft, authorities say, has confessed to the murder. Mrs. Dixon howevere, maintains she had no part in the slaying.

Ashcraft declared he shot Dixon in self-defence when the latter attacked him, authorities say. The fight followed an accusation by Dixon that Ashcraft had maintained an improper intimacy with Mrs. Dixon while boarding in their home.

Dixon carried $4500 insurance and had almost completed payments on his home here ,authorities say.

OPENWORK PANELS IN LADIES' HOSIERY

(By International News Service)

LONDON, March 23.—Silk stockings with openwork panels are the newest fashion in ladies' hose.

The panels are about three inches high and one inch broad and are arched at the top, looking like Gothic windows set in groups of two. The flimsiest of silk is used and the stockings look stout enough to last about two days.

Big and Erratic Comet Hurtling Toward Earth

(By International News Service)

LONDON, March 23.—There's a big and erratic comet hurtling itself toward the earth at several hundreds of miles a minute in excess of the speed limit.

But it probably won't end the world.

It's unusual for comets that are coming right at us not to have the criminal intention of snuffing out the unemployment problem, Irish problem, the tax question, prohibition troubles and the like once and for all—with a bang. But this is an unusual comet.

In the first place, it's named Pons-Winnicke. It has no right to be meddling in our affairs, anyway. It has been reappearing every five and three-quarter years, and it ought to go gliding by a few million miles away. But it's an erratic monster and the attraction of Jupiter has been giving it a misguided orbit of late.

Hence, it's swerving from its normal orbit at a terrific rate and is due in our midst on June 26.

Comes Dangerously Close

"Its orbit, then, will almost intersect that of the earth," says Dr. Crommelin, one of the world's foremost astronomists. "But the chances of a collision are not great.

"If the actual date of intersection is June 26 there will be a collision. The world will not be wiped out, but there will be the biggest shower of meteors ever seen and possibly some damage and casualties."

There seems to be some ifs about it, despite the fact that the schools teach that astronomy is an exact science. Also, there are differences of opinion.

"My belief," says Sir Richard Gregory, editor of Nature, a leading scientific organ, "is that some day the world will come to an end by collision with some body hurtling through space at a terrific speed.

"If the head of Pons-Winnecke hits the earth, the continuous combustion of thousands of meteorites might set the world on fire.

"I do not think, however, there is much chance of this happening on June 26. There is about as much chance of the world coming to an end in this manner as there is of a random shot from a rifle hitting a bird in full flight.

Shower of Meteors

"If, however, this very remote event occurred, there would first be a tremendous shower of shooting stars, many of which might penetrate through the earth's atmosphere and reach the earth's surface. A collision with the head of the comet would thus lead to celestial bombardment which would have incalculable effects.

"Usually the earth's atmosphere acts as a torpedo-net and prevents most solid bodies from outer space from reaching the surface of the earth. They are consumed as they rush through the air with a velocity of 110,000 miles an hour, and merely give rise to the appearance of a shooting star."

But Sir Richard thinks we'll only get a playful flirt of the comet's tail.

A comet's tail, he adds, is an infinitely more perfect vacuum than can be obtained by known scientific methods in any laboratory.

And there comes the best surprise of all.

A comet's tail is made up of gases, very rare gases. So rare, in fact, that it is estimated that if the tail of a comet could be compressed to the density of ordinary air it would be of a volume that would comfortably fit into an ordinary pillbox.

MOONSHINE LIQUOR FOUND IN HOME

Pitched Battle Between Band of 17 Negroes and an Arkansas Sheriff

(By International News Service)

FOREST CITY, Ark., March 23.—In a pitched battle between a posse headed by Sheriff James Sanders, and a band of 17 negroes, one negro was killed, a member of the posse wounded and 16 negroes were arrested near Kinsey, Ark., today.

Following the fight, a still and several jugs of moonshine liquor were discovered in the house used by the negroes.

The bullets were fired from a house on the Spearman hog ranch.

Soon after the shooting a posse of deputy sheriffs was dispatched to the scene of the tragedy. Search is being made for C. P. Spearman, owner of the ranch, and his son, Neil Spearman, the latter being under indictment charged with unlawful possession of liquor.

The two officers were ordered to halt as they aproached the ranch house. The order was followed by a volley of shots.

NEGOTIATE THEIR OWN CONDITIONS

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO, March 23.—General W. W. Atterbury, vice president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and labor committee chairman of the American Association of Railroad Executives, took the stand again today in the railroad-employe wage controversy and, hammering home his point with mighty blows on a table, told the railroad labor board that the only possible peace in railroad matters lies in permitting men and officials to get together to negotiate their own rules and working conditions.

Attorney Walsh, representing the unions, and General Atterbury were almost constantly clashing during the second day of the examination of the Pennsylvania official. The first conflict came over classification of employes for standardizing wages and working conditions.

"It can't be done," General Atterbury shouted. "I take it that the function of this board is to quiet, not to foment, trouble. You are not pouring oil on the waters, but are throwing rocks into it when you write rules that neither the railroad companies nor their employes can agree upon."

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR GLENDALE

In that very delightful novel of Charles Dickens, "Great Expectations," which is so rich in humor and so free from false pathos, there lives a certain Mr. Wemmick.

Mr. Wemmick works in the office of Mr. Jaggers in London; but he lives and finds the rewards of his life in a little castle which he maintains at Walworth. His real flagstaff, the drawbridge made of a single plank, the gun fired every night at nine o'clock, Greenwich time, the arrangements for standing an imaginary siege and his effort to excite the admiration and secure the contentment of his aged parent—these are strokes of real genius. All these are but the expressions of Wemmick's philosophy of life, which is even better than its embodiment, the Walworth castle.

"The office," says Wemmick, "is one thing, and private life is another. When I go into the office, I leave the castle behind me; and when I come into the castle, I leave the office behind me." Admittedly, his attempt to realize something in life which would reward him for the tedious detail of a distasteful business, was peculiar; but his theory was correct. For living and getting a living are quite different things, and it requires time to live just as really as it requires time to make a living.

We all know what making a living is. What it means to live is not so well understood. It means enjoying intellectual activity outside of and above that which is occupied in providing for bodily needs; it means acquiring knowledge, and enjoying the power born of it; it means giving free exercise to social sympathy in wholesome intercourse with young and old; it means having the wonderful satisfaction of a home that is the one bright spot on earth; it means taking delight in those things which rise above the bare utilities of life into the realm of the beautiful; it means being happy in the activity of one's moral and religious nature—this is what it means to get hold of life, to live.

Most of us have not the means at hand, financial or imaginative, to build for ourselves a castle like unto Mr. Wemmick's at Walworth. Yet in every one of us, whether we are conscious of it or not, there is the yearning for a broader life.

An opportunity for this enrichment of life, this enjoyment of activities of mind outside of and above those of our daily task, this development of appreciation of the beautiful, this unfolding of social sympathy through wholesome intercourse with each other, yes, even the enhancement of our appreciation of our homes and the growth of our moral and religious nature—it's a colossal program, yet a civic center for Glendale spells an opportunity for all these things.

Of course, merely building the civic center will not make this dream come true. Yet its fulfillment is within the possibilities, if every Glendale citizen will work unselfishly and disinterestedly toward that end.

ADDITIONAL ROOM TO BE PROVIDED

Work was begun this morning preparatory to the construction of a 50-foot addition to the rear of the PRESS building. The entire room will be occupied by the newspaper press, which is now en route from New York by fast freight, and by a portion of the other mechanical equipment of the office.

It is expected that the new press will be in place ready for action early in April. The paper will then be enlarged and the management will be able to make many other improvements in the PRESS which have been contemplated from the first.

The Daily Press has met with remarkable encouragement. With the press facilities now available it has been impossible to handle all the advertising that has been tendered the paper But all these inconveniences will be removed after the installation of the big press. An additional job press, equipped with an automatic Miller feeder, in addition to the other three jobbers, will enable us to do job and book work expeditiously and in the most artistic manner. The PRESS job auxiliary is now turning out an immense amount of work and is receiving many orders from our neighboring cities.

Our subscriptions are coming in by the hundreds and the PRESS will have a list of subscriptions commensurate with the size of Glendale and which will meet the needs of advertisers. In other words, our subscription list must cover the valley and we have set our mark at 5000, which, when attained, will be satisfactory.

THREW CHILDREN FROM FOURTH FLOOR

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK, March 23. — After throwing her two small children, aged one and two from the fourth floor of a tenement house today, Mrs. Bridget Mulhall, soon to be a mother again, jumped after them. All three were taken to a hospital in a serious condition. It is not believed they will live.

MUST SELL TEA OR QUIT BUSINESS

NEW YORK, March 23.—The tea rooms in Greenwich Village, the Bohemia of New York, must sell tea or go out of business, was the dictum issued today by Police Commissioner Enright. The warning followed a series of raids Sunday night, when the detectives found that most of the cups contained a beverage more like T.N.T. than live, plain tea.

HOTEL ROBBER IN GUN BATTLE WITH POLICE

(By International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23.—John Steindl, arrested with Daniel B. Chandler last night after a gun battle today, confessed to the police that he had been the prime mover in a series of hotel robberies in this city during the past few weeks. Chandler, he said, was his "lookout."

Chandler last night emptied his revolver loaded with dum-dum bullets at the arresting officers before being taken into custody urged on by Steindl, who had been captured first.

Envelopes were first used in 1859.

SOUTH GLENDALE NEWS

LUMBER COMPANY HAS NIGHT RUSH

The Bentley-Schoeneman Lumber Company has been compelled to put on a night force to take care of the demand of people who want homes built in Glendale. This reliable company has been enjoying a big business, and the fair treatment, coupled with the high quality of work and lowest possible prices, has served to largely increase the company's business.

H. D. Charlton is one of the night men in the architectural designing department, and Friday night he was at work along about 11 o'clock. This part of the story is not new for Mr. Charlton often works very late. The incident which surprised him the most was the appearance of a gentleman and lady at that hour, and they wanted Mr. Charlton to start plans at once for their new home, which they planned that very night. The midnight hour had struck when the designer and his customers departed. But a new house had been arranged for, and one more home will shortly be added to Glendale's growing population.

A Real Metropolis.

South Fernando Road is fast assuming the aspect of a metropolis. Several new business buildings are being erected, or have just been completed. Among the number of late enterprises to be started is a coffee store at 800 South Fernando Road. The new building is almost rectangular in shape with windows on three sides. P. F. Wilcoxson, of Garfield street, is the owner and proprietor of the attractive little shop where they blend and roast their coffee and peanuts to a queen's taste. All kinds of fancy nuts, confectionery and soft drinks are being served. Mrs. Grace Mertens is the agreeable saleswoman in charge.

Grocery Store Changes Hands.

George P. Moore, wife and three children motored through the country from Plymouth, Indiana, to California last fall. They were looking for a place to locate and traveled a good many miles all through California and especially southern California. Glendale really looked the best to them and last Monday they purchased the grocery business at 818 South Fernando Road, from J. M. Murrican. Mr. Moore has had many years of grocery business and has started a regular crusade of change to shape up his new store more to his idea of what a grocery store should be. He will carry a complete line of reliable brand canned goods and some meats.

Another New Building.

A new building is in course of erection at 1133 South Fernando Road for Roy Johnston, who will open a small grocery, soft drink and confectionery store there just as soon as it is completed. Mr. Johnston has a plumbing shop adjoining and Mrs. Johnston will have charge of the new store. They hope to be all installed ready for business about the first of April.

TRIANGLE BUILDING MAKES CHANGES

The Triangle Building, one of the most pretentious buildings in South Glendale, which until recently was one large store room on the main floor, has been partitioned and made into several very nice smaller store rooms. G. H. McLan, the owner, is occupynng one himself with a tire shop. Here he sells new tires and repairs old ones.

BLACKSMITH SHOP HAS CHANGED HANDS

Wm. Miller is the new lessor of the Jennings Blacksmith Shop on Los Feliz Road. He has a good equipment and is a thoroughly experienced blacksmith. He asks a share of the patronage of the people.

Mrs. J. C. Satow, of San Fernando Road, has been suffering severely from an ulcerated tooth, and was unable to sleep for several days. She is on the road to recovery.

DERAILMENT OF PASSENGER TRAIN

(By International News Service)

ATLANTA, Ga., March 23.—The derailment of passenger train No. 4 of the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad this morning near Douglas, Coffee county, has "every appearance of a deliberate attempt to wreck the train," declared Receiver B. L. Bugg, today. No. 4 was derailed near Douglas enroute from Fitzgerald to Brunswick. The engine was overturned and one truck of the first coach was derailed. No one was injured.

PACKERS-EMPLOYES HOLD CONFERENCE

Secretary of Commerce and Secretary of Agriculture on "Side Lines"

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 23.—The packers and their employes will continue their conference this afternoon with Secretary of Labor Davis acting as government mediator, while Secretary of Commerce Hoover and Secretary of Agriculture Wallace sit on the "side lines" in an advisory capacity. The conference will begin at 3 o'clock or a little earlier if the three cabinet members can get away from today's cabinet meeting.

While all parties to the dispute declined today to comment on the developments of yesterday's long conference, it is believed that the matter will be brought up at the cabinet meeting today. A stenographic report of yesterday's proceedings was laid on Secretary Davis' desk this morning and a summary of it probably will be presented to President Harding during the cabinet meeting. It is believed that the President may, through his Secretary of Labor, convey a message to the disputants that will aid in settling the threatened strike in one of the "key" industries of the country.

CLEMENCEAU WON'T ANSWER CRITICS

(By International News Service)

PARIS, March 23.—Former Premier Clemenceau, who has just returned from a tiger hunting trip in India, refused today to comment upon the criticisms of himself written by Robert Lansing, former American secretary of state and member of the American delegation to the peace conference. Mr. Lansing had said that M. Clemenceau was a cynical and domineering figure.

"When anyone speaks ill of me, that is all right," said the ex-premier. "It is only when anyone speaks good of me that I begin to worry."

Asked if he would re-enter active political life, "The Tiger" replied:

"I saw bhuddists gods in India. They sat cross-legged not concerning themselves with the affairs of others. That is the policy I intend to pursue."

"THE PAGAN" IS DECLARED NOT LEWD

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK, March 23. — "The Pagan," a statue of a young woman in the nude, even to bobbed hair, remained upon her pedestal in the Metropolitan museum of art today and if she could have spoken she probably would have said: "Some victory of art."

The victory was won by the friends of "The Pagan" over the Architectural league, which sought to have the statue removed on the ground it was lewd and indecent. A committee of seven artists voted 4 to 3 that "The Pagan" was all to the good morally. The sculptor who made the statue is Charles Carey Rumsey, son-in-law of the late E. H. Harriman.

EXPERT AUTO MAN HAS BIG BUSINESS

M. Feldman, owner of the Glendale Auto Paint and Top Shop, at 321 Los Feliz Road, has had over twenty years' experience in this particular line of work, and is an expert in the auto top and auto painting business. He learned the trade in the old country where a man was compelled to learn a trade well before he could go out as a journeyman, and Mr. Feldman has had an experience seldom enjoyed by a man in his line. He was also owner of several big establishments in eastern cities, and knows how to do the best work. In one of his shops he worked 24 men, he says, and had an enormous run of business. He is very busy now and has several men working and a great deal of work on the floor. He invites the public to visit his place and see the kind of work he turns out. Read his advertisement on this page, and then see his work.

SOUTH GLENDALE (TROPICO) LOCAL NEWS HAPPENINGS

Mrs. Florence Virden has leased her home at 131 West Eulalia and is now occupying her residence at 649 North Alexandria.

D. B. Trowbridge, one of the owners of the Glendale Carpet and Mattress works on South Fernando Road, has just about completed his new residence across the tracks on Park avenue, and hopes to move his family there from Los Angeles by the first of April, to be nearer his business.

Many beautiful homes are being built in South Glendale, and among the prettiest is the Colonial bungalow being built for Warren West at 1817 South Brand.

Valentine Herkelrath, of San Bernardino, arrived Monday for a visit with his daughter, Mrs. E. E. Rucker, of the Tropico hotel.

Mrs. Charles Williams, of 128 W. Maple, left Saturday for Berkeley, for a visit with her daughter, Mrs. W. L. Rifenberick. Before her return Mrs. Williams will visit in Fresno with a son and with friends in Bakersfield.

W. W. Moss and Hale Anderson, of the Glendale Laundry, motored to Fullerton Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Girard, of West Cypress street, are spending the week with their son near Hynes. Mr. Girard is superintendent of the Park Avenue school.

Fred Gifford and Miss Ellen Gifford, of Battle Creek, Michigan, are now residents of South Glendale. They are very pleasantly located at 1531 South Central.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Evans, until recently residents of Los Angeles, are now pleasantly located at 1531 South Central.

A new garage and repair shop has also taken root in South Glendale at 1530 South Fernando Road. W. A. Evans, of Los Angeles, has just opened it.

LAURA'S CAFE NOT IN CHARGE OF A MAN

In our effort last week to give Laura's Cafe a deserving write up it was stated that a gentleman was in charge of the place. This statement was an injustice to the three excellent ladies—Mrs. La Com, Mrs. Irene Shaffer, and Miss Laura Eyraud—sisters, who have built up a big business on the San Fernando Road in the Tropico city. They serve one of the best meals for the money to be had anywhere and are deserving of good business.

CARD PARTY BENEFIT A GREAT SUCCESS

The card party given on the 17th by South Glendale residents for the benefit of their new moving picture machine, which they are planning to buy for the South Glendale school, was a great success from a financial point of view, and a very enjoyable time was spent by all fortunate enough to be present. It was given at the Branch Library building. The decorations were truly Irish in commemoration of their patron saint. Mrs. Becker and Mrs. Rice had them in charge. Miss Cora Hickman supervised the progressive games and Mrs. Barnes and daughter, Mrs. Lucille Meighn, made the beautiful hand painted tally cards. Mrs. Brunick and Mrs. Robert Danner had charge of the refreshments and the social hour.

MISS CAROLINE BLYTHE GIVEN BIRTHDAY PARTY

Miss Caroline Blythe was the honoree at a jolly birthday party Monday evening at K. P. hall. About 35 of her young friends were present to wish her happiness through the coming year. Dancing and music passed the evening only too rapidly. A large birthday cake, all white and pink, and other delicious refreshments were served. Mrs. Dan Maag assisted Miss Blythe in entertaining.

VIRDEN'S DRUG STORE SOLD TO DENVER MAN

Mrs. Virden has sold her drug store on San Fernando Road (Tropico) to George V. Black, of Denver, Colo. Mr. Black has been in Southern California for some time and became so fascinated with this section that he decided to go into business. He was a prominent business man back in his home town and will be a valuable man for the South side city.

Large Tire Manufacturer Would Locate In Glendale

THE SITE HE FANCIES LIES IN LOS ANGELES, BUT ADJACENT TO THIS CITY--THOUSANDS WOULD BE EMPLOYED--BIG PAYROLL

Mr. Bruess, who addressed the directorate of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday to explain his project for the establishment of a manufacturing center somewhere adjacent to Los Angeles, preferably on a site west of this city between Riverdale and Broadway just across the Southern Pacific tracks, made some very interesting statements relative to his plans. He stated in the beginning that he was not asking the Chamber to indorse it or finance it; that he would finance it himself with capital of his own and of other financiers whom he could interest. Three different manufacturing projects, he declared he had in mind, the first of which would be a tire factory, a business with which he is thoroughly familiar .He mentioned his Australian experience in this field and the factory he established in this country but is no longer connected with the Ohio State Rubber Tire Company, at Portland, Ohio.

About twenty acres would suffice for the first unit he plans to build, but he has a vision of other factories for by-products. He wants room to expand and also to locate a residence center for his workmen. For that reason and because it is close to the Southern Pacific railroad and close to Los Angeles and close to a high class residence city like Glendale, he is favorably disposed to the 66-acre tract offered him in the locality mentioned. However, he has received inducements from Burbank, Inglewood, and other cities desirous of securing such a plant, and therefore wants to know what, if anything, Glendale will do to make it an object to him to come here.

He reviewed conditions in Southern California from the manufacturing viewpoint, the increase in freight rates which are going to make it more profitable to manufacture tires here than to import them. He pointed out that there are 600,000 automobiles registered here, which represent an outlay for tires of $100 a car or $60,000,000, with an additional $25,000,000 for inner tubes. All this product, he showed, is imported except for the output of one California factory of about $15,000,000. He admitted, with a smile, that if he locates the tire factory proposed, he will not undertake to cover the remaining $70,000,000 worth.

The second unit which he has it in mind to build is a rubber reclaiming plant, where the salvage from worn-out tires will be made available for the manufacture of a thousand and one articles of hard rubber. These discarded tires have been going east, but the advance in freight rates, he declared, would close this outlet, leaving no means of disposal but dumping in the Pacific. The only rubber reclaiming plant now operating, he says, is at Akron, Ohio.

His third project, he frankly admitted, would be in a line in which he has had no experience, but in which he proposes to educate himself, viz., a cotton mill to utilize the crops of the Imperial Valley, which are now sent east and returned as manufactured goods.

He insisted it was a business proposition, pure and simple, in which he was looking for an opportunity to make money for himself without any philanthropic desire for Glendale, but that nevertheless Glendale butchers, bakers and candlestick makers would all profit were his industrial center located at the place indicated.

When asked about the time it would take to build a tire factory he explained that the machinery required in the manufacture of rubber goods is enormously heavy and is not on the market, but has to be built to order. He insisted he could make tires cheaper than anyone else because his process, like that of the packing plants, is continuous. A pig is put in at one end and comes out sausage at the other, and in the same way in his process, the materials go in at one end of a line of machinery and come out as tires at the other end.

He also made clear the intent to profit by the sale to small factories who might wish to share his equipment and advantages of land not needed by his own plant at a figure considerably in advance of the price to him, but which even then would be less than it would cost the small factory to buy and equip independently. Mr. Huntley suggested, as a means of cooperating, with Mr. Bruess, that a stock company be organized to purchase the extra land and then share with him on a fifty-fifty basis, but Mr. Bruess made it clear he had no desire to enter into any partnership of that kind.

Mr. Kent explained to the guest that Glendale City has so many pressing needs for sewers, schools, etc., which keep it bonded to the limit, that a bonus provided by a bond issue would be out of the question. also, that the site suggested is outside this municipality, therefore its taxes could not be remitted by this city. Mr. Hewitt, chairman of the Industrial Committee, asked Mr. Bruess to say frankly just what he did want of the city of Glendale, but that gentleman dodged the issue and insistec the offer must come from Glendale, if it desires to have the proposed plant located at its gateway.

The matter was again considered at an adjourned meeting of the directorate held at the Chamber headquarters last night.

WILL OPEN MONTE CARLO IN MEXICO

(By International News Service)

MEXICO CITY, March 23.—A delegation of citizens of the northern district of Lower California has protested to the government against the establishment of a huge $2,000,000 Monte Carlo just across the American border at Monte Costa. According to information available here, T. Johnson, with offices in the Mortgage Guarantee Building, Los Angeles, is the promoter of the project which, if permitted, will make it the greatest gambling resort on the American continent.

Plans for the founding of the town include the erection of hotels, docks, baths, race track and casino. The protestants claim that Monte Costa would mean ruin for Tia Juana; that the promoters of the company have not secured a permit from the federal government for the work, and notwithstanding this latter fact have shipped in all the necessary machinery for beginning operations, asserting that a corporation has been organized under the laws of Mexico.

Permit Not Secured

In a letter said to have been received here by a friend of Mr. Johnson's secretary, it is asserted that as soon as work has started an application will be made for a permit to run the business. Those opposing the Monte Carlo scheme declare the corporation's plan is to try to build before seeking a permit in order to force the government to grant it. They are unaware it is said, of the fact that the department of hacienda must grant the permit first and that the United States government must also agree to the establishment of a customs house and immigration office at Monte Costa.

The newspaper Excelsior, commenting on the situation, says: "A native of Lower California wonders what are the interests behind this big enterprise and who told the promoters that the Mexican government would not expel them if they started work without a permit. The department of hacienda (interior) must investigate."

Lic. Jose I. Lugo, under-secretary of the department, said:

"The new governor of the northern district of Lower California, Epigmenio Ibarra, who will leave soon for his post, has been instructed by President Obregon that gambling must be prohibited in all the territory. Ibarra will issue the proper orders upon his arrival so that no such establishments are allowed provided they are devoted to gambling."

LAWYERS BUSY IN STILLMAN DIVORCE

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK, March 23.—The opposing lawyers in the Stillman divorce case were busily engaged today, making final plans for the court fight at White Plains, New York, tomorrow, when counsel for Mrs. Stillman will attempt to question James A. Stillman, the multimillionaire, upon his income and personal habits.

Mrs. Stillman's motion for $120,000 alimony annually and $25,000 counsel fees, will be up before Justice Morschauser in the supreme court.

Mrs. Stillman was reported to have come to this city from Laurel-in-Pines at Lakewood, New Jersey, for a final conference with her lawyers before the fight begins in open court tomorrow. Attorneys for Mrs. Stillman, it has become known, will fight any effort of her banker husband to have a certain letter written to him by his wife in the spring of 1918 spread upon the record.

Mr. Stillman is said to consider this letter as an admission of certain of his charges against his wife.

MADAGASCAR RICH IN ORE OF RADIUM

(By International News Service)

PARIS, March 23.—Following the Paris municipal council's intention of buying two grammes of radium, Monsieur Lacroix, secretary of the French Academy of Sciences, says that the island of Madagascar, "little known to treasure seekers," if properly exploited would yield annually a quantity of radium sufficient for the needs of France.

Mr. Lacroix discovered rich minerals in Madagascar years ago, and it is in these minerals, which he has named "betafites" on account of the proximity of the town of Betato, that he first found radium. On returning to Paris nobody would believe M. Lacroix's report on his discovery, and it was not until 1912 that serious efforts were made to extract minerals from the island. In that year 22 pounds of mineral were extracted and in 1917 the amount of mineral extracted totalled more than seven tons. The quantity of radium found in these minerals is irregular, and taking the unity of a milligramme per ton the radium extracted realized two hundred francs per unity. There are now in France factories which refine these minerals and each gramme of the precious salt is today worth about one million francs, and an active propaganda service is to be started to interest treasure seekers in the mineral wealth of France's island colony.

PARENTS USED BABY TO DECOY

(By International News Service)

DETROIT, March 23. — Mary Ida Louise Robinson did not obey an order to appear in Wayne Circuit Court. But Mary isn't worried, because she probably knows nothing of the order and wouldn't obey it if she did, being only seven months old.

She is the youngest child ever ordered into Wayne Circuit Court on habeas corpus proceedings, and she did not appear.

That was because she was sick in the House of Providence Hospital, Charles C. Chadwick, county agent, told Judge Adolph E. Marschner, when he appeared in answer to habeas corpus proceedings started by the foster parents of Mary Ida Louise, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Robinson.

Chadwick said the police had returned the baby over to him when they arrested the parents on a charge of stealing a baby cab. Chadwick swore the police said the baby had been used as a decoy for the mother to appropriate baby cabs from the front of moving picture houses. He said she would drop the baby into the best looking cab in front, wheel it home, and there the buggy would be repainted and changed in appearance.

The case will come up in the Juvenile Court on the docket of neglected children. No testimony of the parents was taken in the Circuit Court.

Awakening to the value of the motor vehicle as a transportation medium, Cuba is now taking steps to build up a model highway system. Many of the old military highways are being repaired and new highways built. At present roads on the coast are good, but in the interior they are impassable except for pack mules.

DIVORCE LAWS IN REACH OF POOR

(By International News Service)

LONDON, March 23. — Misconduct by married men, in itself, will be a ground for divorce if Lord Gorell's new bill becomes law. At present a woman has to prove, in addition to misconduct, either desertion or cruelty.

"Put briefly," said Lord Gorell yesterday to the Daily Sketch, "my bill is four-fold:

"It places women on an equal footing with men.

"It brings the law of divorce within the reach of the poor.

"It extends the grounds of nullity so as to obviate the worst causes of fraud, intentional or, sometimes, unintentional, and

"By allowing death to be presumed in seven years a woman who has been deserted can marry again, and not have the lifelong fear of her husband eventually turning up to make her second wedding void and her later children illegitimate.

"By far the great majority of deserting husbands," Lord Gorell continued, "go away with some other woman. Therefore, if he is traced his wife can claim divorce under my bill for his misconduct, and if he doesn't turn up for seven years she can 'presume his death' and safely marry again.

"The measure I have introduced is, I hope, non-contentious and, for that reason, it should stand a good chance of getting through both houses quickly."

'DURAL'

We have been appointed "Exclusive Distributors" for Glendale for the "Dural Antimony Inner Tubes." We feel sure we have the best automobile inner tube on the market today to offer our acquaintances, friends and patrons. There are a great many reasons for this statement and we quote a few:

Steam Splice

Dural Tubes are "steam spliced," and not "acid spliced" like ordinary tubes. The "acid splice" is fairly safe protection, but the "steam splice" is absolute protection. It costs twice as much as the "acid splice," but it means a better tube.

Tested Strength

The tensile strength of every inch of Dural Tube is 2300 lbs. per sq. inch, with a stretch of 1 inch to 9½ inches. This means the greatest strength for long life and service. Every inch of Dural is tested strength —and that means a better tube.

'Full Sized Tubes'

Every tube is made full sized — you'll never find "skimping" in any Dural. This not only insures strength, but prevents the wear of chafing and rubbing. This is especially important for tubes used in Cord Tires. "Full size" costs more, but it means a better tube.

The Liberal Overlap

The liberal Dural overlap costs five tubes in every hundred, but it gives real protection against "pinching" or "pulling" when the beads of the tire casing abuse the tube. This overlap gives a "built-like-a bridge" construction, with greatest strength at the point of greatest strain. And it means a far better tube.

Guaranteed

We will replace free of charge any DURAL Antimony Red Tube leaking at the splice, leaking at valve joint, porous or out of shape, if it is returned to us one year from date of purchase. Replacement will not be made if the tube shows misuse from blowout, chafing, pinches, cracks or breaks in casing, imperfect beads or flaps.

EACH DURAL TUBE IS EQUIPPED WITH A "KWIKONANOFF" DUST CAP

Stronger Valve Patch

Dural Valve patches are made of two ply heavy Sea Island duck, not one or two ply of sheeting. This material applied to Dural Valve base construction insures no leakage at the valve. It is heavier material cost, but it means a better tube.

'Premium Crude'

Every ounce of rubber that goes into Dural is "premium crude." We buy nothing but branded "selected estate," which is far more expensive than ordinary "ceylon rubber." Here is a big reason for Dural uniformity and long life. It costs more, but it means a better tube.

Laminated Construction

means the wrapping of sheets of rubber over each other. This prevents porosity and makes a tougher sturdier tube. It is an expensive process, but it means a better tube.

REMEMBER—Prices not higher than other first class tubes, so why not get the best. Watch for our demonstrations.

FOR SALE.

Five acres of natural park in the foothills; a most beautiful home site, located about 7 miles northwest of Pasadena, about 5 miles north of Glendale, having a frontage of 783 feet on Honolulu avenue, in that beautiful valley of La Crescenta-Canada, 3 miles west of Flintridge.

There is a magnificent growth of live oaks, sycamores, willows and cottonwood trees, mostly oaks of good size. There is about 1½ acres with very few trees, suitable for planting to garden stuff, fruit trees, etc. There is a magnificent house site about the center of this property, surrounded by beautiful trees.

There is a most wonderful Japanese swimming pool on the property.

This 5-acre tract is one of the few properties of its kind near Los Angeles. It has an elevation of about 1500 feet.

It has been laid out as a park, with winding drives, walks, etc. The soil is a decomposed granite, rich with leaf mold and decomposed vegetation.

The climatic conditions in this section are exceptionally good, being cooler in summer and warmer in winter than the average foothill or canyon property near Los Angeles; due to the elevation, there is little or no frost in this section. The surrounding foothills protect this property from hard winds.

An exceptionally beautiful view of the Sierra Madre range.

CITIZENS' CANDIDATES FOR SCHOOL TRUSTEES

Reasons for the More Than Usual Interest in the Coming Election for High School Trustees

The fact that there are four candidates in the field for the two positions is perfectly proper. The fact that two of the candidates were proposed by a group of citizens through the regular channels and duly announced was very much in order and according to custom. The fact that the other two gentlemen should have been proposed later by other citizens would have been entirely in order and customary, but that they were proposed by, and are being strongly advanced in a thoroughly political manner by a prominent church organization is, to my mind, neither in order, nor is it customary or American.

The public school was conceived independent of church domination or influence and it has always resisted and repelled any attempted encroachment.

Notwithstanding my friendship and respect for the candidates advanced by the Federated Brotherhood and for many of its members with whom I am acquainted, I do not hesitate to state that I believe the Brotherhood has overstepped the limits of its province in entering a public school election campaign as an organization.

Let us be consistent. What would happen should certain other religious organizations make a similar attempt?

Why this great effort upon the part of the Brotherhood to defeat such estimable men as Messrs. Chandler and Phelon; men who have been respected citizens of Glendale for many years; men who have the practical, permanent welfare of our young people at heart, and men who have due appreciation for the need of wise economy consistent with the greatest educational advancement?

For whom and for what is the effort being made?

I wish it distinctly understood that I am not against the church, for, I recognize its place in our civilization and its need for those who need it. But just as clearly as I recognize it in its place, just so clearly do I recognize it out of place. Its province is precept, not power; persuasion, not compulsion; usefulness, not "blue laws."

I am not against the opposition candidates, who are estimable gentlemen, but I am strongly in favor of Mr. Chandler and Mr. Phelon, who are independent of any organization, political, church or fraternal, and who have a well-defined, constructive policy.

I believe they will, if elected, prove a decided help to the carried-over members of the board in the important problems before us and I look for harmony and progress.

Let us help elect Chandler and Phelon Friday, March 25.

H. M. BUTTS.
